ALGERIA

(Algérie—Argelia)

Situated on the North African coast of the Mediterranean, opposite France, with a coastline of 1,200 miles. It is bounded on the East by Tunisia, on the West by Morocco, on the South by the Sahara, and on the North by the Mediterranean Sea. The total area may be estimated at 850,000 square miles, and the population is quite equal to its vast dimensions, at about 6,000,000 inhabitants.

The chief occupations consist of cereals, wine and tobacco, and the raising of sheep, cattle and goats; vegetables and fruit are also extensively raised. All the Ports visited, and there is a large trade in this place, especially in the Agricultural of Corn. The country produces cork, valuable phosphates, lead, copper, iron, antimony and iron, silver ores and manganese.

Algeria is being rapidly developed into one of the greatest wine-producing countries in the world. Immense tracts of land are being successfully planted with vines. Tobacco is a crop that is also largely cultivated.

Very extensive forests of cedar and cork oak exist in the mountainous regions in the departments of Algiers and Constantine, the cork being chiefly exported through Bona.

At Djebel Dyr, about 11 kilom. south of Tebessa, large ore-deposits of phosphate exist.

The principal exports are wines, vegetables over a third of the value of all total exports, wheat, sheep, meat and barley, lead ingots, olive oil, wool, cork, silk, grain, phosphate, iron, lead ore, skins and hides, potatoes, and other vegetables, eggs, tomatoes, dates and vegetable fibres.

A very large portion of the export & import trade is with France.

ALGIERS (Alger, Argel), the capital of Algeria, is situated on the Bay of Algiers, and is a very fine and well-built city, and which is surrounded by walls in order to resist any invasion. Owing to a sweeping shore immediately under the city, it is also difficult to approach by land. It is the official residence of the Governor-General of Algeria, and contains the Palace of the Governor-General, the Cathedral, Archbishop's Palace, Law Courts, Public Library, Museum, Theatre, Mosque, Synagogue, Hospitals, Barracks, Public Gardens, Botanical Gardens, Zoological Gardens, and Public Offices of Importance. Also a branch of the Bank of France, and Banque de l'Algérie, Crédit Foncier de l'Algérie et de la Tunisie, Crédit Foncier Algérien, Société Générale Algérienne, Banque de l'Afrique du Nord, Banque Française et Italienne pour l'Amérique du Sud, Banque Transatlantique, Banque Commerciale Africaine, Banque Française pour le Commerce et l'Industrie, Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas, Crédit Lyonnais, Société Générale, Banque de l'Algérie, Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris, Banque de l'Union Parisienne, Banque Nationale pour le Commerce et l'Industrie

HAMBURG A/BERGE
See HOYER-HAMBURG.

HAMBURG is a free city, and the largest of the three Hanseatic towns, a great commercial centre, and the second port of Europe, with a population (Dec. 1895) of 1,322,124 in the town and 1,322,111 in the Free State of Hamburg (Oct. 1895). It is situated 67 miles from the mouth of the Elbe, on the right or north bank of the river.

A Limited Time week is granted in Hamburg, with intervals between each.

Merchant seamen undergo training during which the longest vessels can be reached.

By special agreement between the Governments of the Free States of Hamburg and Prussia, the ports of Hamburg, Altona, Cuxhaven, and Harburg - Wilhelmsburg are now under the jurisdiction of the Hamburg authorities, and will be known as the "Port of Hamburg."

There is a Chamber of Commerce,

Seat of an Intendantur office of the Ministry of Prussia (Fifth District), Hamburg and Lübeck. Prussian Ministry about the Landsturm. Office for Armament (Ordnance) &c. Railway, &c.

Naturally: Physiographic Observatory.

Commercial Representative for the Union of South Africa, P. 36, Jungfernstieg, 34.

Public Institutions, conducted on principles of all civil and international interest, concerning the commerce and politics of the various countries. The collections consist of—

(1) Extensive archives of all commercial, and other great settlings, of consul reports, documents &c., published by them, catalogues, statistics, calendars &c. (special treasure book, 400,000.)

(2) A library containing more than 40,000 volumes, especially statistics, consular reports and reference works (in most European about 6,000 volumes); also more than 1,000 current newspapers and periodicals.

All this material is at the free disposal of the public in comfortable reading rooms, and used by 1,000 readers daily.

The publication of the "Hamburger Welt-Wirthschafts-Archiv" is the "Wirthschaftsblatt," a weekly economic periodical.

Kelly's Handbook can be consulted here.

HELGOLAND (HELIGOLAND, ENGLAND) is a small island about 1 mile in circumference, consisting an area of 140 acres; it is situated off the west coast of Schleswig, about 40 miles from the mouths of the Weser, the Elbe, the Jade and Eider. 4,000 inhabitants.

All goods have to be imported via the continent, whence in the season twenty-three steamers ply weekly. In the winter there is only one steamer, which runs when weather permits, twice with the mails; the remainder of the mails is carried on by sailing vessels. The island is fresh watered by the northern drifting ice. Large quantities of potatoes are sent by the inhabitants and sold to the continent.

BERNBURG (ANHALT) on the river Wipper, 30 miles south of Magdeburg. It is an industrial town under the administration of the "Herzogliche Hüttenverwaltung" at Anhalt-Lindenberg. Bernburg is an important centre for the manufacture of sugar and silk, the latter being used for all purposes, but chiefly for the production of neckties. In connection with these industries large quantities of the various dyeing, finishing and printing works. There is a special institute for research in the various lines of textile industry, chemistry, and for silk, wines and shipping industries, and a Government testing and weaving school. There are also important textile machinery, iron, steel, wire, oil, sugar, vinegar, chemical, soap and other manufactories, oil mills, corn and flour mills, cotton factories and paper manufactories. Kreis-Physikus is the seat of a Chamber of Commerce and Industry, and also of a number of offices of the industrial trade.

MANNHEIM, in Baden, by a bend of the Rhine, opposite the confluence of the Neckar; 1907 estimate, 163,000 (with suburbs, 200,000). Mannheim is situated on the left bank of the Rhine, at the point of railway crossing of the Frankfort, Hanover, Berlin, Bebra, Stuttgart, Basle, Strasburg, Munich, and Heidelberg lines. It is a fortified town, and the headquarters of the 14th Army Corps. The principal industries of the district are the manufacture of wheat flour and starches.

The commerce is also considerable in the products of the vicinity (wheat, tobacco, hops, seeds, spirits, &c., also in woods, chiefly the timber of the Black Forest).

There is a Chamber of Commerce and one of an Industrial Society of the Ministry of Foreign Trade Board of Trade and the Patent-Amtsgericht (Landgericht) for Baden & the Pfalz, Mannheim, I., 3, 10. The following publications contain trade and commercial notices:—Badische Fabrikant (Industrial Yearbook); Mannheimer Handelsblatt; Mannheimer Zeitung; Mannheimer Tageblatt; Mannheimer Volksstimme; Neue Badische Landes-Zeitung.

Mayor's Agent—Friedrich Hartmann, Lobenzweg, 28

SAAR BASIN

(Saargebiet—La Bassin de la Sarre—Cuenca de la Sar)

The Saar Basin, part of Rhenish Prussia, has an area of 1,712·07 square kilometres, with a population of 812,501. By the terms of the Treaty of Versailles the territory came under the mandate of the League of Nations. The territory is subject to the French customs regime and French money circulates in it. A plebiscite will be taken in 1935 to decide upon the future political status of the area.

XEROS, in an island with a population of 20,000. It is one of the Ionian Group of Islands, and is famous for its currants, olive oil, and honey, which are exported in large quantities, as also are wines, cotton, and sponges. The inhabitants are mostly engaged in agriculture, and are noted for their industry and frugality. Many emigrate to America and Australia. The soil is fertile, and produces wheat, barley, maize, and vegetables in abundance. Bullock carts, mules, and donkeys are used for transport. Roads are good, and there are telegraph offices in all the villages. Exports are chiefly to England and Italy. Imports include coal, iron, timber, and manufactured goods, mostly from England and Germany. Steamers call regularly at Argostoli, Vathy, and Lixouri. Coins in use are the Greek drachma and the British sovereign. Weights and measures are the same as in Greece.

Chief Port is the capital of the island, with 12,000 inhabitants.

LACONIA. The province of Thessaly is divided into two prefectures or departments, that of Larissa and that of Trikkala. The chief town of the first is Larissa, situate on the River Peneus. The inhabitants of the department number about 170,000, half of the chief town Larissa 35,000.

Larissa is connected by rail with Volo, Velestino, Pharsalos, Karditza, Trikkala, Kalambaka, Arkasa, the Pineus, and the Station Velitsi de Tempsi, and about July, 1893, with Salonica.

The peasantry of Larissa produce wheat, barley, maize, millet, rye, chickpeas, haricots, rubbia, lentils, potatoes, tobacco, cotton, flax, linseed and various kinds of fruits.

Cattle raising is the principal as it is a considerable animal. Large numbers of sheep, lambs and goats are being continually shipped from Volo to Piraeus, chiefly for consumption in Athens.

ANGOLA

ANGOLA, the large province in South West Africa, and has a coast line extending for 930 miles from 4° 45' to 17° 20' S. It has an area of about 484,800 sq. miles and a population estimated at 4,600,000.

The Benguela railway starting from Port Lobito runs in an easterly direction as far as the Angolo-Belgian Congo frontier where it connects with the Belgian Congo line.

CLIMATE.—The climate varies considerably, being hot, moist and unhealthy in the low-lying districts, but cool, dry and healthy on the highlands, which rise to a height of 6,000 feet.

The principal imports are as follow:—Cotton, flour and wheat goods, cartridges, firearms and explosives, rum, coal, wines, oil, iron, cement, coffee and provisions, salt, petroleum, spirits, tobacco, hardware, machinery, boots and shoes, cotton goods, haberdashery, ironmongery, etc.

ACCIETE, a port of Angola, situated about 10 miles north of Luanda, near the great Lake, which is the starting point of the caravan route of the Congo. Quite close there is a large native population, which carries on trade with Europeans. Telegraphic communication with Europe via Loanda. Portuguese authority here not exactly beyond the name and the Europeans reside. Trade with natives, who employ themselves in making excellent baskets of grass, chiefly in the dry season. Population, 1,500.

BALEARIC ISLES
(Ilas Baleares—Islas Baleares)

The Balearic Isles lie off the east coast of Spain between approximately latitude 39° and 40° north, and longitude 1° and 4° east. The group consists of the islands of Majorca, Minorca, Iviza and other islands which, however, are of little commercial importance.

The principal exports are corn, olive oil, wine, fruit, cattle, cheese, hides, wool, linen and silk. The total population of the islands is about 312,000.

PALMA, the most westerly of the Balearic Isles has a population of about 31,000. Exports consist of almonds, figs, oranges, locust beans and silk.

Iviza, or Ibiza, is the capital of the island and has a population of 11,000.

Exports: Salt-petre, Lime, Timber, etc.

SPANISH POSSESSIONS IN THE GULF OF GUINEA

(Possessions Espagnoles du Golfe de Guinée—Posesiones Españolas del Golfo de Guinea)

The capital of the Spanish possessions in the Gulf of Guinea is Santa Isabel, in the island of Fernando Po, which is the seat of the Government for Spanish affairs.

The Spanish possessions in the Gulf of Guinea comprise the islands of Annobon (17 square miles), Corisco (15 square miles), Elobey Chico (1 square mile), Elobey Grande (2 square miles), and the islands of Fernando Po and the continental (Rio Muni) region, the principal town of which is Bata.

Population.—The population of Fernando Po is about 41,000, which includes about 30,000 contracted labourers from Liberia and the Kru Coast. There are about 200 to 300 Europeans in the island, most of them being British.

The population of Elobey Chico is about 300, Corisco 1,000 (with Kuli and by about naturalized), and the mainland is only 200. It is estimated that 1 square mile of Annobon has a population of 1,000 inhabitants, while the population of the Rio Muni territory is estimated at 200 square miles and 30,000 natives.

All these colonies are under the control of a Governor General, resident at Santa Isabel. There is a Sub-Governor at Bata.

The principal exports are cocoa, coco-nuts, ebony, palm kernels, palm oil, rubber and timber.

BATA is situated in the north-east corner of the territory, and trade with Europe and the interior. It is the administrative centre for the Continental region of the Spanish possessions in the Gulf of Guinea. There is a regular service from Hamburg by the Woermann Line. Bonito mail steamers from Barcelona to the Canary Islands, Fernando Po and the Elobeys, and every month for Annobon, Corisco, Libreville, Cape Lopez, Gaboon, Loango, Banana, Boma and Matadi.

SWEDEN

(Sudde—Sverige—Suecia)

The Kingdom of Sweden, excluding twelve small islands, of the eastern and greater part of the Scandinavian peninsula, extends from 55 deg. 20 min. 30 sec. to 69 deg. 4 min. 31 sec. north latitude, and from 10 deg. 58 min. to 24 deg. 10½ min. east longitude of Greenwich. The area of Sweden is somewhat larger than that of Norway, comprising about 172,000 British square miles. Its greatest breadth is 406, and its greatest length 1,000 British miles.

The population at the end of 1903 was 5,110,568.

The principal imports consist of cotton, wine and spirits, coffee, machinery, iron (steel, rails, bar iron), tobacco and other oils, salt, cereals, grain, seeds and other, rubber, wool, textiles.

Exports consist principally of fish (salted or preserved, dried or smoked herrings), bacon, creameries (wood working, dairy and chemicals), iron (steel, pig and bolted iron, bagatelle, blooms and sough iron, &c.), iron wire in coils, chains, screws, nails, (all kinds), iron ore, paper (all kinds), wood pulp (chemical & mechanical), leather, goods, tar, timber, joinery and woodware, matches, granite.

The manufacture of matches is a very considerable industry of the country. They are now shipped all over the world.

The manufacture of wood pulp is also an important industry and one that is steadily increasing, the material being exported to all paper-making countries, and has in the last few years come extensively into use as now replaced for the artificial silk industry.

This country is very rich in minerals. The iron ores of Gellivara are said to contain 70 per cent. of iron, while those of Kirunavara and Luossavara, which are said to be practically inexhaustible, contain only to be quarried from the mountains. Railways are open from Lulea to Kiruna and Gellivara, and also from these places in the port of Narvik in Norway

Other mineral substances worked are: Sulphate of copper, sulphate of iron, red oxide, silver and graphite.

The Swedish Legation in London is at 27 Portland pl W 1.

Official Bureau for the Development of Export Trade from Sweden: Foreign Advisory Superintendency (The Export Import Association of Sweden), Vitaplatsen 21, Stockholm.

The Consulate-General in London is at 220 High Holborn W c 1.

There are English Consular officials at the following places in the British Isles:—

CONSULS.—Birmingham, Dublin, Glasgow, Great Grimsby & Immingham, Hull, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

VICE-CONSULS.—Aberdeen, Antrim, Ardrossan and Troon, Belfast, Berwick-on-Tweed, Blyth, Bournemouth, Bristol, Bradford, Bristol, Brentford, Burntisland, Cardiff, Cork & Queenstown, Cowes, Dartmouth, Dover, Dumfries & Annan, Dundee, Falmouth, Fleetwood, Goole, Grangemouth, Great Yarmouth, Hartlepool, Hull, Ipswich, Jersey, Kings Lynn, Kirkwall, Lerwick, Leith & Newhaven, Liverpool, Llanelly, Londonderry, Lowestoft, Middlesbro' Montrose, Newport, Padstow, Penzance, Peterhead, Plymouth, Poole, Port Arthur & Port William, Portsmouth, Preston, Sheffield, Southampton, Stornoway, Sunderland, Swansea, Wick & Thurso, Widnes.

The British Legation is in the Metropolitan Buildings, and there are British Consular officials at the following places in Sweden:—

CONSULS.—Gothenburg, Malmö, Stockholm

VICE-CONSULS.—Boras, Gävle, Helsingborg (Viken), Halmstad, Hälsingborg, Kalmar, Karlskrona, Lulea, Norrköping, Sundsvall, Umeå.

During the year 1903 imports amounted to Kr. 1,057,000,000 and exports to Kr. 1,000,000,000.
